In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mr. E. C. Woodard, who - for seventeen years - served as principal of Perquimans County High School, this annual is dedicated.

Forever sealed within the walls of Perquimans County High School, lies his contribution to student progress and betterment. Through the years, he gained enduring faith in youth. So that students of this school might enjoy a richer, educational reward, he gave freely his knowledge, his wisdom and his experience. As he worked with our teachers, he gained their respect, their co-operation and their friendship. A better school program resulted. An outstanding educator in this area of the state, he held various, responsible positions of leadership. While holding these positions, he strived to make the educational system here - a worthwhile, serviceable tool for the people of Perquimans County.

Above all, students of this school will remember the fine example Mr. Woodard set for them - in Christian character - in concern for his fellow man - in appreciation for the worthwhile things in life. The students will always be grateful for having known him.

The Campus

Let's take a sentimental stroll around our beautiful campus and look at the old and the new. A new lunch room and covered walk plus a curved road for bus-loading in foul weather have been added.

A northwest view of the classroom building.

A seldom seen view of the back parking area and the rear of the classroom building.

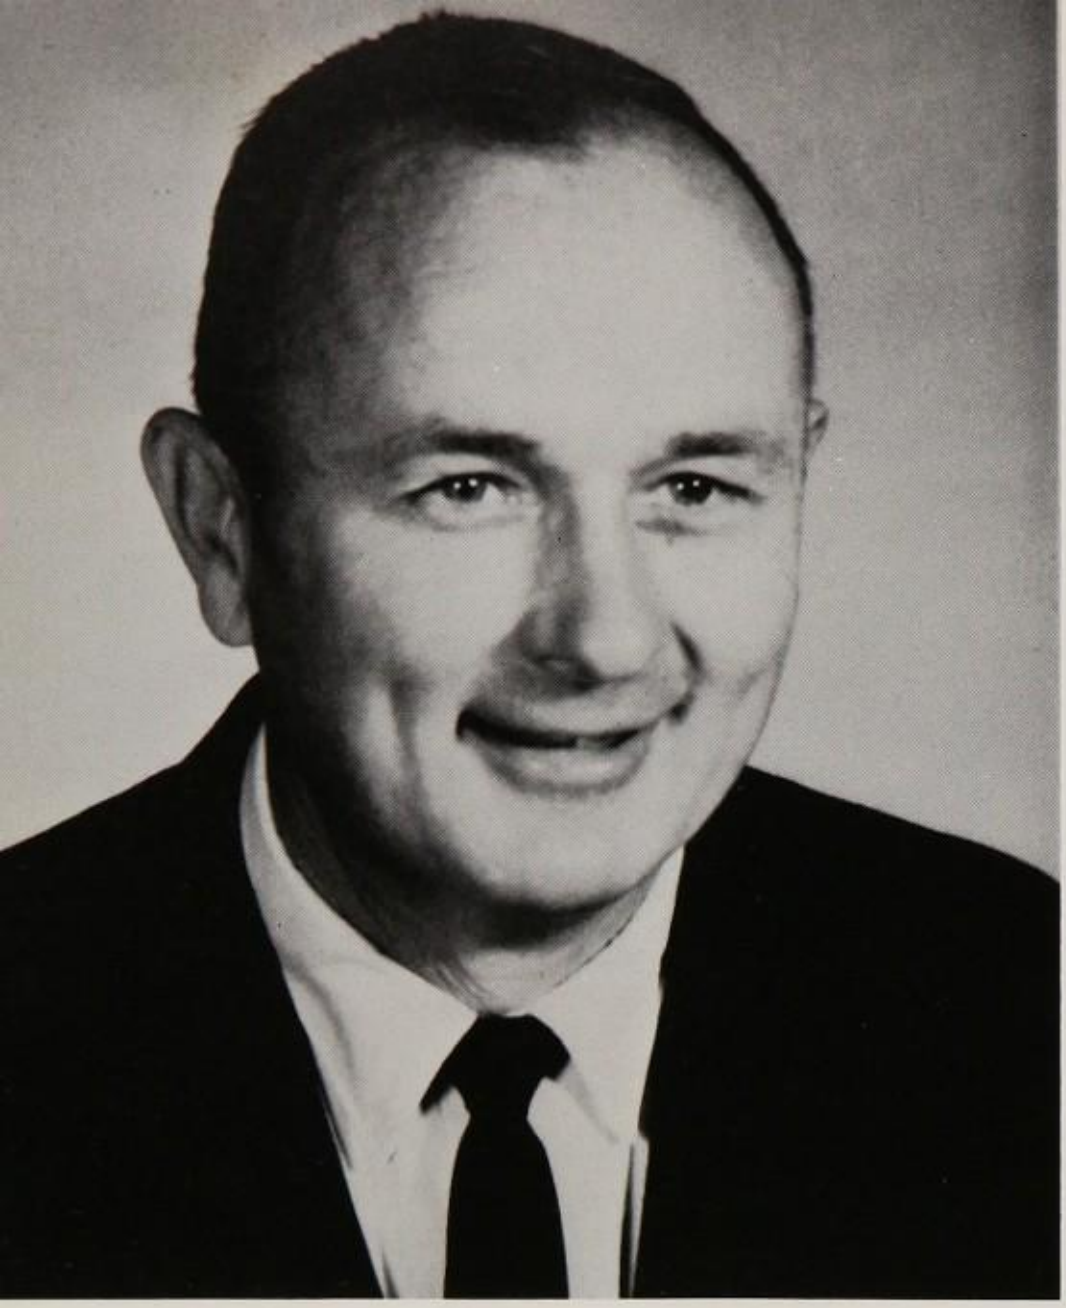
The front campus looking northeast.

The south end and the new lunch room.

This is a southeast view of the gym and the agriculture building.

This northwest glance shows how large the gym is.

The north end of the classroom building.



MR. I. P. PERRY
Principal of Perquimans County High School

Once a Coach . . .
Now a Principal.

Mr. Perry keeps the record during last spring's track season.

Mr. Perry and Mr. Carter discuss game tactics during practice before the big playoff game.

secretly listed activitie
secretly listed activitie

Verna Ann Perry was selected to reign as Miss Perquimans County High School for 1963.

The Miss P.C.H.S. Pageant

"Moonlight and Roses" was the theme for the Miss P. C. H. S. Pageant sponsored by the Junior Class of 1963. When the curtain rose, the audience beheld a beautiful garden---a full moon---a rose and ivy covered white fence and trellis---and a long extending rose and ivy covered ramp that was similar to the Miss America ramp in Atlantic City.

When the night was over and the tears dried, another very successful pageant had been completed. Miss P. C. H. S. for 1964 was crowned and the runner ups were announced and the Miss Congeniality title was bestowed upon Becky Hobbs.

The Junior-Senior Prom

"Southern Plantation"

Michael Matthews, Carol Cartwright and Ruth Harrell all contemplate the night's activities.

Juniors, Seniors and their guests relax and talk a little as the dance continues on the "dreamy" theme.

"This is the moment!"

Francis Combs, Bryan Miller and Helen Overton take advantage of the refreshment period and load their plates.

Billy Winslow, Rachel Winslow, Joan Green and Tommy Harrell enjoy a long, slow dance amid the other couples.

Francis Combs and Sydney Ann Blanchard follow Susan Cox through entrance passage.

Overwhelmed by the beauty of the Prom, couples dance to the rhythm of the five-piece band from Ahoskie.

The plantation house displays its Southern charm as the guests watch the dance floor.

have really enjoyed living [illegible] friend. I have enjoyed going places and doing things with you. Remember all the ball games we went to.
The Marching Unit was fun at times.
after awhile it got boring. We were scared to death when we got use to it, but still some of the afternoon we came in the 9th grade.
classes are a bit tireing. I can't wait untill we finish our dressswere making. I bet they are going to be beautiful. I hope we can continue to be friends always. I hope you can keep coming to see me all the time. Remember the time Kent came up to talk

P.S. I hope you are successful in everything you do! Always Good luck with Kent.

Dawn,

I have really enjoyed going around with you this year. It really is fun sitting in math class talking, chewing gum, passing notes and everything else we do to "piss" Mr. Overton. We have had some good times this year, doing everything we can think of. I only wish we had, had all of our classes together, and had been in the same home room. maybe next year we can be in the same home room and have all of our classes together, just think how we would get on those teachers' nerves! I really have enjoyed being at your house and going to the show with you. You know what I'm talking about. Boy very nice, cute and sweet girl. Of course we've had our quarrels if you know what I mean, of course we're adults that really wasdumb, now aren't we? Well I guess I'll stop writing because way when our two thick heads get together and start planning everything we can think of. I'm running out of words. I just want you to know I've had fun being with you this year and I hope we can be together next year, you are my very best friend and always will be. Stay sweet!

Love ya always!
